

Genting wants more money to build convention center

Thoroughbred Times

RESORTS WORLD NEW YORK CITY CASINO

Adam Coglianese/NYRA photo

Genting, owners of Resorts World New York City Casino at Aqueduct, said it needs a bigger piece of revenue to build a proposed 3.8-million-square-foot convention center at the racetrack, Crain's New York Business reported on Monday.

Genting Senior Vice President for Development Christian Good told Crain's that the company would struggle to raise money for the $4-billion convention center without more revenue.